Carnegie Mellon, like many other institutions, provides exceptional outlets for the intellectual, emotional, artistic, professional, cultural and leadership development of students. However, what sets us apart is a strong and sincere focus on spiritual development of our students.

Carnegie Mellon takes pride in purposefully creating opportunities for students to pause, to engage in self-inquiry, and to reflect upon and articulate one’s moral code. Students have the opportunity to engage through many channels, including CoRA.

COUNCIL OF RELIGIOUS ADVISORS (CoRA)

The Carnegie Mellon Council of Religious Advisors (CoRA) is a body of religious and lay leaders organized around “supporting and encouraging religious and spiritual life within the campus community. Members of the council provide a variety of services including counseling, educational programs, conferences, worship, discussion groups, social events and religious instruction for the campus community from their own traditions while working cooperatively on interfaith programs.”

The university acknowledges the staff members of those ministries who are commissioned by their particular faith group to work within the campus community at Carnegie Mellon. Each chaplaincy has its own mission, objectives and schedules, which are available through the individual faith groups. However, as a whole, CoRA is highly active on campus and representatives can be seen at many important events.

LOCAL PLACES OF WORSHIP

We are fortunate to be living in such a vibrant community with houses of worship and faith-based worship groups of every spiritual distinction. Please look below to find the community of believers that fits your lifestyle. The listed places of worship were selected primarily for their proximity and easy access to campus. This is not intended to be an exhaustive listing and the places of worship do not necessarily have an official relationship with the University.

Please do not hesitate to contact cmic@andrew.cmu.edu if the church, center, temple, group or organization that you are searching for is not listed here.

The CoRA Suite is located on the first floor of the University Center next to the Wright-Rogal Chapel, Room 111. Information is valid for 2015-2016 academic year.
